OUT ON THE LIMB

with George Vierhus

THANKSGIVING traditionally seems always to lift the curtain on the year-end holiday activities. It is like waiting in the wings for the curtain call.

The hustle and bustle and the mad rush that has become so much a part of the holiday season gets off the ground after Thanksgiving.

It is as if we were in our starting blocks waiting for the gun to sound to set us off and running.

In newspapering this seems to be especially noticeable. We know from past experience that after Thanksgiving, no matter how hard we try, we will have to dog-trot just to keep even.

So get out your track shoes and practice sprinting.

Actually, we are not complaining.

We like to keep busy, even if we can't seem to catch up.

As a matter of fact, we would be really concerned, if things were quiet this time of year.

But sometimes this acceleration reaches such a high pitch that the real meaning of Thanksgiving and Christmas is overlooked.

We think on this Thanksgiving Day instead of girding ourselves for what lies immediately, ahead, a reflection on our blessings of the past year would be in keeping.

During the bustle of the next few weeks, some thoughts also on the real meaning of Christmas would be apropos from time to time.

We are going to make a valiant effort to do just that.

We'll let you know how we come out. That is, if we are not too worn out to pound a typewriter when the year ends.

LAST WEEK we were fortunate to be among the guests who attended a cocktail party and buffet supper hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sahadi, owners of the plush apartment house complex on Union Ave.

The affair, which we rate as one of the highlights of the season, was held in the Cardiff Swim and Racquet Club, the recreational center of the attractive apartment complex that is composed of 250 units.

The gracious hosts spared no effort to make the evening an enjoyable one for their guests. And they succeeded admirably. We think they wanted to show off the place. And we don't blame them a bit. It is worth showing off.

We were impressed by the elaborate development. In the recreational area, in addition to a swimming pool, tennis courts and ping-pong and pool tables, there is a "pitch and run" golf set up. We doubt very much if any other apartment layout offers that. At least not in Campbell.

After viewing the Sahadi enterprise, we are ready to admit that there are many advan-

San Tomas plan finally gets ok

With a resounding thud the City Council Monday night dropped the curtain on the final act of the long drawn out local drama of "the to be or not to be" shopping center at San Tomas Road and Hacienda Ave.

By a 4-1 vote the council allowed the first reading of the ordinance that approves the plans for Topaz Builders Inc. for a shopping center complex at that location.

Approved also was the necassary change from R-1 (residential) to P-D (planned development) for a portion of the property.

Construction of the center is to start in 30 days with the first phase to be completed in 180 days.

The vote on the issue reversed the ruling of the council in August when by a 3-2 vote the plans were denied. Topaz Builders had modified the plans since that time (reduced the size of one building and increased the parking).

The Planning Commission had unanimously approved the plans on both occasions. Homer Hyde, who was on the commission then, was sworn in as councilman Monday night before the hearing began. He replaces Bob McElroy, who had resigned. McElroy had voted against the center in August.

At the request of Hyde, City Attorney Joe Bonacina ruled that Hyde could participate and vote on the matter before the council despite his participation in the commission action.

FLAG CARRIER—Dick Bersano, owner of the Villa Felice, somewhat belatedly brings forth the flag for the business-education luncheon meeting of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce held at his establishment last Thursday. Bersano, a director of the C. of C., overlooked getting the flag in place until after the flag salute had taken place. The luncheon meeting, at which educators were guests of members, was attended by approximately 150 people. It was rated as one of the most successful meetings yet held by the chamber. Dr. C. M. Timpany, county school superintendent, and his staff at the luncheon described how the county office was working with business and industry in the education field.

C. of C. to select nine directors

Chamber of Commerce members were urged this week by Richard Hardy, C. of C. president, to mark and return their ballots by next Tuesday, Nov. 30, in the annual election of directors.

Ballots listing 14 candidates for the nine openings for directors were mailed to all members last week. The by-laws of the Chamber of Commerce were amended this past year to allow for an expanded board of 15 members. Prior to this year there were only 11 directors.

Directors are named for two-year terms and there are six hold-over board members. They include Hardy; Bill Oltmann, local accountant, C. of C. treasurer; Elton Admire, Campbell hospital administrator; Dick Bersano, of Villa Felice; John Faber, of Campbell Memorial Chapel and Richard Andis, personnel manager, IBM.

Three of the present directors, whose terms expire on Jan. 1 are not candidates for re-election. These are Ira Kirkorian, Kirk-

Campbell Water Co. moves into new building Monday

Campbell Water Co. will move into its new quarters at 555 W. Campbell Ave., just east of the San Tomas Expressway, on Monday, Nov. 29.

Homer Hyde, general manager, reports that the new building will house the complete operation of the water company which now services 4000 customers in this area. The water firm has occupied the office at 346 E. Campbell Ave. since 1938.

The architect, William W. Hedley Jr., designed the building with the California Missions in mind. It features an adobe type block wall, natural redwood trim and an overhanging shake roof. There is a large paved parking area and a carport for company trucks which can be enclosed if necessary at a later date. Shrubs and other plantings will be installed in the near future.

Hyde said the Company felt it had an obligation to Campbell to build something that the community can be proud of. No particular open house is planned, he said, but customers are welcome to stop by and visit the new offices.

Campbell Water Co. was founded in 1917 by the late Ralph Hyde. His wife, Mrs. Maud L. Hyde is now president of the board of directors. Other officers on the board are Herbert M. Shadle, vice president; Homer Hyde, secretary-treasurer and A.A. Zolezzi and D.S. Kingman, directors.

The new building is just part of the $500,000 expansion program that the water company has undertaken in the past few years to keep pace with the explosive growth in the Campbell area.

Hyde, long active in civic affairs, was recently appointed to the City Council.

Traditionally The Campbell Press calls upon a local clergyman to present a Thanksgiving Day message in the issue that appears on the eve of this purely American observance.

The message today is by the Rev. Don Stram, pastor of the First Christian Church of Campbell.

It is particularly appropriate that the Rev. Stram offers the message this year, for his church under his leadership is constructing a new edifice for its growing congregation on Pollard Road.

The members have been meeting in the Orchard City Grange hall on First St. Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new church were held in August of this year.

The Rev. Stram took over the pastorate in June, 1964, coming here from Salem, Oregon. He is a graduate of Dakota Bible College and has taken graduate work in other educational institutions. He and Mrs. Stram are the parents of five children.

Thanksgiving

"Many favors which God gives us ravel out for want of hemming through our unthankfulness..." So wrote Thomas Fuller three centuries ago. When it comes to gratitude and thanksgiving, man's story could be summed up in a few words: Raveling by default; hemming by determination. The age-old story of the healing of the ten lepers by Jesus capsules this truth. His question is still a stinging one: "Were not the ten cleansed? But where are the nine?" (Luke 17:17)

The practice of "Thanksgiving" in America early began as a day of fasting and prayer. God's goodness upon these early settlers transformed it to a day of feasting and prayer. Today, unless we make a conscious effort to express our thanks to the "giver of every good and perfect gift" (James 1:17) we shall join the "nine"---who forgot to acknowledge God's providence.

Are we apt to assume that our fasting (doing without) has been turned to feasting (abundance) through our own doing? Then perhaps the sage proverb needs attention: "A stitch in time may save nine." Lest the raveling process proves to be our undoing, let us take a few stitches; let us do some hemming of thankfulness.

Feasting is more appreciated by the man who has done some fasting. Our forefathers were deeply grateful for food for the body. The Lord's Prayer suggests a stitch be placed in the hem: "Give us this day our daily bread..."(Matt. 6:11)

Take up your thimble and needle again. How about a stitch for the freedom we enjoy in America? Who had better point of reference than the pilgrims? They were deeply grateful for it, for they knew what it was to live without it. "A penny for your thought"---how about a thought from your penny? "In God we trust." Now there's a thought worth repeating. Trust and thanks go hand in hand. Shakespeare might well have addressed these words to all Americans: "God's goodness hath been great to thee. Let never day nor night unhallowed pass but still remember what the Lord hath done."

How much for granted we take our homes. At our house we tell our children the magic words are "please" and "thank you." These words do work wonders. When the attitude is in keeping with the words, they can transform greed into generosity and gripes into gratitude. One of the first things God did following creation of man and woman was to establish the home. Do not fail to see that a stitch is securely placed in the hem of the home.

The Lord's Prayer is prefaced with the words: "Our Father Who art in Heaven..." Izaak Walton said: "God has two dwellings: one in heaven, and the other in a meek and thankful heart." That life which refuses to recognize, honor and appreciate God, our Father in Heaven, is not only unraveled, but threadbare! True thanksgiving is not a yearly observance but a daily experience. Worship, praise and thanksgiving, to be an honest practice must be continuously practiced. Out of a life of broad proportions, the Apostle Paul wrote: "We give thanks to God always..." (1 Thess. 1:2)

Many favors which God gives us ravel out for want of hemming through our unthankfulness; for though prayer purchases blessings, giving praise keeps the quiet possession of them. I've got my needle and thread. How about you?

Thanksgiving offers hot grid menu

As has been the case for more than 30 years, Campbell High and Los Gatos High tangle on the gridiron this Thanksgiving Day. The traditional game will be played in Los Gatos and kickoff is 11 a.m. Neither team this year has been a title contender, but the game will still have its glamor and tradition.

As part of the tradition, The Campbell Press, as it has for many years, presents its unique football page (pages 6 and 7). A local businessman is pictured in helmet alongside the Buc player that he "sponsors".

On Thanksgiving also the other schools in the league (six of 'em in the Campbell Union High School District) have contests which are rapidly building tradition.

Westmont, "the rags to riches team", plays Leigh at Westmont. The Warriors need this one to become undisputed league champs.

Thanksgiving Day

Americans have much to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day. Although we are embroiled in Vietnam, we have been spared nuclear war. We have freedom, prosperity and abundance.

We can, therefore, sit down with peace of mind at tables groaning with turkey and all the other traditional foods which recreate the fare to which the Pilgrim Fathers sat down when they observed the first Thanksgiving Day in 1621.

Many Americans think that Thanksgiving Day has been observed regularly in late November ever since but that is not so. For the first century and a half after 1621, the day was observed only locally and sporadically in the colonies after a particularly good harvest or a victory over the Indians.

The Continental Congress recommended days of thanksgiving annually during the Revolutionary War and in 1784 for the return of peace. The first presidential proclamation of Thanksgiving Day, however, was made by George Washington who set aside Nov. 26, 1789 to give thanks for the adoption of the Constitution.

Observance returned to a local and sporadic nature thereafter for many years. President Madison proclaimed Thanksgiving Day in 1815 for the return of peace after the War of 1812. It was Abraham Lincoln who established Thanksgiving Day as an annual national event in 1863 with a proclamation setting aside the last Thursday of November each year for its observance.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt proclaimed the third Thursday of November, 1939, 1940 and 1941 as Thanksgiving Day but Congress then took a hand and by legislative enactment decreed that the fourth Thursday in November, commencing in 1942, should be observed as a national public holiday and it has remained there ever since.

Letters to the Editor

SAME MEETING?

Dear Mr. Vierhus,

As I read your comments on the recent City Council Meeting, I felt almost as if we had attended two different meetings. Perhaps my feeling comes from understanding the frustration of these people, and I was amazed at the restraint shown by many who aired their concern to the City Fathers for the first time.

Perhaps you are not aware that this issue was first brought before the council by a group of about 8 people who tried to express what we thought was the concern of many. Having no facility to meet with all the families involved it was virtually impossible to listen to all the suggestions or report all of the progress. There is no doubt that the people repeated some of the complaints already brought to the council's attention by the original group. And though the Campbell Press fully reported the occurance of the first meeting it certainly could not answer all the questions put before the council the second time.

The good point you referred to, given by Attorney Joe Bonacina, was not really an original point, as most of the people present had at one time or another directed their concern to the City and the County and the School District staffs to absolutely no avail and in view of this fact the remark made by one of the gentlemen suggesting we no longer write letters to the council, but rather work through the staff was enough to break this camel's back!!

As one of the leading "sounder-offers" I felt neither ill-mannered or discourteous as I waited, as many did, to be recoginzed. I felt only shock at a couple of councilmen who didn't even "babble from a sitting down position" but rather showed complete distaste and boredom for the people who were not as well informed as the gentlemen seemed to think they should be.

I do not expect that every official will be in agreement with every issue that comes before them (God help them if they do), but feel it is their duty and job to listen to every citizen concerned enough to come before them and treat them with dignity and respect. With this in mind I am most grateful to those gentlemen who spoke with the group and listened to their laments with patience and understanding. And it should be further noted that right or wrong, gallant or gauche, it was our CAMPBELL CITY COUNCIL who were the first to grab hold of a rather sticky wicket and take some definite steps to further safety to our school children and for this I'll forgive ANYTHING!!!

Very sincerely,
Mrs. Anne M. Stoops

CLASSROOMS on the college lawn?

We note that the trustees of West Valley College are concerned where they can put 20 additional temporary classrooms next year to house the anticipated enrollment on the old Campbell Grammar School site the college is using for the next five years or so.

One of the trustees, Bill Homan, suggested that the classrooms be placed on the front lawn so that everyone driving by on Campbell or Winchester would note that the needs for a permanent campus are critical.

But Dr. Wallace Hall, college president, thinks that the classrooms should be put on the parking lot in the rear. Dr. Hall maintains that the front lawn is the only bit of green the students have and which gives the present location its only physical semblance of a collegiate institution.

We are inclined to agree with Dr. Hall. That front lawn, in our opinion, is no place for the temporary classrooms, even for a few years.

Campbell Ave. needs such structures as much as we need a hole in our head.

Come to think of it, maybe even less than that, according to some people.

FLUORIDATION of water, either on a pro or con basis, we have learned, sadly, is not the ideal conversational subject for any social gathering.

We caution you to keep this in mind during the holiday season when the parties become the rule and not the exception. Otherwise the sweetness and light that is supposed to predominate on such occasions may go out the window.

Admittedly we are not well enough informed on the subject to offer anything constructive.

But there are a surprising number of people who have firm convictions on one side or another, we hastily add.

Dentists, for example, as a rule can "prove" through statistics how valuable fluoridation is.

Then, of course, there is the other side--

Thus far Campbell has been immune from the most severe fire on the subject.

But we have a hunch that is going to change soon. Because of the involvement of San Jose Water Works and the overlapping of that system into our area, things are bound to get sticky. . .

Or muddy. . .

approval (second reading) of the ordinance will not take place until the next meeting of the council (Dec. 13), this should be an anticlimax. The vote on the first reading indicated the feelings of the councilmen.

Present at the public hearing on the issue Monday were many of the same "cast" that had given the "show" one of the "longest runs" in local city hall history.

Still battling at the finish was Emory Delmas, San Jose attorney, representing the Turturici family, owners of the "Big Boy Market" property at Hacienda and Capri. The Turturici family more than four years ago, had announced plans for a shopping center expansion at their location. Through Delmas they have opposed any other commercial development in the area as economically unsound.

At Monday's meeting, Delmas directed most of his argument at Hyde, the former planning commissioner but now a councilman.

Delmas reviewed his previous points that the Riches Research report that was used to show the need for such a center as planned by Topaz was faulty. He also reiterated the point that the Turturici family was finally ready to go on their development.

OPPOSITION

Supporting Delmas in his arguments was Salvador Liccardo, a San Jose attorney, representing the Smith family, owners of the San Tomas Village shopping center.

Plans have been submitted for doubling the size of the Smith operation and Licarrdo also maintained that it was economically unsound to allow another shopping center so close to it as the Topaz project.

Sanfor Diller, attorney, presented the case for Topaz.

Present at the meeting were many of the same residents in the area who had patiently and persistently attended most of the previous hearings at both the planning commission and council level. Among those speaking for the center were Mrs. Curtis Michael, J. H. Butler, and Mrs. Helen Acosta. They maintained more than 200 families in the area were on record wanting the new shopping center.

For the first time since the issue came to bat, three residents in the area, however, voiced objections to the proposed development. Speaking against the proposal were Mrs. Shelly Hancock, Mrs. Virginia Ward and Mrs. Dorothy Diaz.

BEFORE VOTE

Before the vote was taken, the council discussed the future plans of San Tomas Road. Mayor Charles Rose maintained and his fellow councilmen agreed, that a definite plan line for the street must be established and that the alignment should follow the "old" road rather than the "new" route that appears on the master plan for the area.

SAN TOMAS ROAD

The "new" route for San Tomas Road would follow a direct line and pass directly by the San Tomas School. The councilmen indicated that they favored widening the present road rather than develop a new route. They agreed they had to work fast on this. After the vote approving the center plans, they directed the staff to report at the next meeting on this matter.

Rose pointed out that it would be necessary to have a 90-foot street by the new shopping center instead of the 60-foot as approved. Ray Snyder, vice-president of Topaz, who was present indicated that this could be worked out.

Rose also argued that more details were needed for a master plan of the San Tomas area before any new development was approved and voted "no" on the motion to approve the plans for that reason, as he had done previously for the same reasons.

ROGERS CHANGES

But it was Councilman Ed Rogers who provided the drama in the voting. Rogers had voted against the shopping center in August but Monday announced he was changing his vote to yes. He said that he could no longer justify opposing the plans for Topaz based on the promises of the Turturici family that they were starting their development. He felt that they had had enough time to get going.

The motion to approve the zone change and plans was made by Councilman Bill Smeed and seconded by Councilman Ralph Doetsch. They had also favored the development in the August meeting.

It's true, times have changed since many of us were last in school . . . architecture, modern methods of education and the students themselves have changed. A solid education has never been so important to the youngsters living in your neighborhood!

Young families look for superior educational opportunities and other civic improvements when they consider buying a home in your community. Good school facilities improve your community's worth and help keep your property's value high.

Most new schools are financed through the sale of municipal bonds. These bonds distribute the cost over a long period to keep taxes at a reasonable level. Interest rates are decided by competitive bidding . . . added assurance that your community will get the lowest interest rates on their bonds.

The President's recent announcement of his intention to renegotiate our treaty with Panama was interpreted by Congressmen of both parties as an executive action which rides roughshod over opposition by the public and Congress. Further, it is looked upon as a surrender of management authority over the Canal Zone which will lead to an eventual take-over of the canal by Panama.

The President's statement of a few weeks ago is a far cry from the firm stand he took in January of 1964. At that time he made it clear that the United States would not negotiate under duress or surrender its rights and interests in the Panama Canal, that it has an obligation to operate the canal "efficiently and securely", and intends to honor that obligation. "The United States," he said, "cannot allow the security of the Panama Canal to be imperiled."

What accounts for this change of policy? Apparently the Panama "crisis" has subsided and opponents of appeasement to Panama, reassured by Johnson's reiteration of a firm United States policy, have relaxed. This has allowed the administration to carefully proceed without public scrutiny and notice.

Ironically, the smoke screen which has made it possible for the President to conceal moves toward the surrender of United States sovereignty in the Canal Zone was voted by Congress itself. In the 88th Congress, a bill, S 2701, was pushed through by the administration without adequate debate and publication of vital background information.

This bill became law and turned the entire inquiry of the canal "crisis" over to the White House. So almost clandestinely, in that the public was not kept informed of continuing developments, the administration has, as a practical matter, recognized the sovereignty of Panama and provided for eventual termination of U.S. rights over the canal without compensation.

The grave implications of this development must not be overlooked. The President has no right to revise the treaty just because the Panamanians (probably prodded by leftist elements) want to. No doubt Mexico would like to revise the treaty that ceded California to us. We have the right and obligation to demand that Panama live up to the treaty of 1903 which granted the U. S. complete jurisdiction over the territory.

Furthermore, the canal represents a lifeline which is essential to transportation and the defense of the Americas But in spite of all this, our negotiators have apparently served notice of essentially abandoning U.S. authority over the area.

Such a policy of feeding the public bite-sized concessions of principle is eroding the dignity and strength of this nation. We have become a great world power and we have done so with honesty, dignity, and compassion for our world neighbors.

But in our anxiety to be loved by everybody, we are not acting the part. Greatness cannot last if we cringe and concede what is right whenever an extremist group or another government asks for what it does not deserve.

Nobody loves a great power. But they respect one.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF
HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Q. I work as a cleaning woman in a number of private homes. Some of my employers do not report my earnings for social security because I work only half a day a week for them. Are they doing the right thing?

A. Any employer who pays you $50 or more in cash wages in a calendar quarter is legally liable to report your earnings. As little as $4 paid regularly each week should be reported. If your employers do not understand this provision of the law, you may refer them to the Social Security Office or Internal Revenue Service for instructions.

Q. My social security card shows my name as it was before I married. I have been employed for several months, and my employer reports my earnings using my married name. Will I receive credit for my wages?

A. You must change your name with the Social Security Administration, so the wages reported for you can be properly credited to your account. You see, the Social Security Administration has no knowledge of your new name until you complete the proper form to change the records. You should ask for Form 7003 at your Social Security Office, as soon as possible. Your number will remain the same, but the records will be changed to show the new name.

Q. I'm a widow with three children. We all receive social security benefits. My two oldest children worked this summer and earned about $200 per month each for June, July and August. Will they still get their social security checks for the summer months?

A. Yes, assuming that any work the children do in other months does not raise each child's total earnings over $1200 for the year. If a social security beneficiary earns $1200 or less this year, he receives all his social security benefits. Even if total earnings are over $1200, benefits for some months may still be payable.

Campbell High meets Los Gatos Wildcats in

Teams battle on Los Gatos field

No title is at stake in the annual Thanksgiving Day football game between Los Gatos and Campbell high schools to be played at Los Gatos. The kickoff is slated for 11 a.m.

Not battling for a title detracts very little from the classic gridiron feud which has been going on for some 31 years. The series started in 1934 when Los Gatos won 6 to 0.

Tradition is also fast building up for other Turkey Day league games that are on tap. Camden meets Del Mar, Leigh tackles Westmont and Saratoga battles Blackford.

Los Gatos and Campbell are near the bottom in league standings this year. The highlight of the league this season was the performance of Westmont, the newest member of the loop. Westmont last year lost every game. But this year it was a different story. The league championship was actually decided last Friday night when Saratoga and Westmont battled it out.

But league championships can come and go. For the past 31 years the Los Gatos Wildcats and the Campbell High Bucs have tangled on the gridiron on Thanksgiving Day in something real special.

In the 31 years there have been many changes in the Santa Clara Valley. But the rivalry between Los Gatos and Campbell still continues. It will blaze anew this Thanksgiving Day at Los Gatos.

When the series started in 1934 and for almost 20 years, thereafter, there was only one high school in the Campbell district and one in Los Gatos.

Today there are six high schools in the Campbell Union High School District (and one more planned). Saratoga has been added to the Los Gatos district (and another school is planned).

But this expansion has not detracted from the rivalry between the two "mother" schools. There still remains Campbell High and Los Gatos High.

In 1960 the two teams battled down to the wire for the crown. Campbell won 46-20 to end with a perfect 9-0 season. That was the year, incidentally, in which Craig Morton, who went on to win All-America fame at Cal, and Jack Schraub, who also starred at Cal, were on the team.

Los Gatos High has won the Thanksgiving Day battle for the past four years; in 1961 it was 25-19; in 1962, 32-20; in 1963, 21-20 and last year the Wildcats won 15-8.

Campbell had a five-year victory streak from 1952 to 1957. Los Gatos, however, holds the record with six consecutive wins. In fact it was six years after the series had started before the Bucs scored their first victory.

Los Gatos holds the lead in total wins over Campbell, 18 to 12. There has been only one tie (0 to 0 in 1943) in the 31 years.

Soph-Frosh win championship

For the first time in the history of Campbell High, the Soph-Frosh Football team won the WVAL league championship and had an undefeated season.

Friday, Campbell played the mighty Del Mar team, a game that decided whether there would be a tie for the championship. Campbell, won 20-7.

Two of Campbell's touchdowns were scored by Chuck Hawthorne. Chuck ran one punt 72 yards, for the score and swept end for 8 yards and another score. Chuck also ran for two after-touchdown points.

The other Campbell touchdown came on a run by back Randy Fujisin.

The team, as a whole, functioned excellently all year. Credit can't be bestowed heavily on neither the line nor the backfield; both worked together to defeat the mightiest teams in the league.

The team wasn't exceptionally large. Most of the first string boys were of average weight, but above-average desire and ability.

Westmont takes third place in C-D basketball

By Gordon Atkins

Westmont's C and D basketball teams both wound up their 1965 season in third place in W. V. A. L. standings with 4-3 records as they completed their schedule against Leigh.

A 50-47 victory over the Longhorn C's enabled the Warrior C's to win their final two contests, while the D's could not quite handle league championship Leigh, who beat them 29-22.

When asked how his teams did this year, Coach Gary Brinck stated, "Both teams did a fine job. The D's did much better than I thought they'd do." The Coach listed Mike Baldinger and Vic Converting as C standouts, and said the D's "whole starting five did a real good job." Both the C and D squads played a pressing game defensively, a hard job in itself, and certainly gave a fine account of themselves.

Westmont wins big one from Saratoga

No matter what happens in the Thanksgiving Day game between Leigh and Westmont, Westmont has at least a tie cinched for the West Valley Athletic League football title.

In the game that really decided league matters for this year, Westmont defeated Saratoga last Friday night 14-7. To gain the win Westmont held Saratoga on the one-yard line in the last minute of play.

It was the eighth straight win for Westmont. Last year the team didn't have a single victory, only gaining two ties during the season. Saratoga was co-champion of the league last year.

Westmont scored both touchdowns against Saratoga in the first half behind the running of Rick Woolworth, halfback, and Tom Rundall, quarterback.

Saratoga scored in the third period and had a chance to tie the contest but failed on a fourth and two situation on the two-yard line with 45 seconds remaining.

Woolworth gained 93 yards in 11 carries and got across for the first score on a 38-yard dash off tackle. Rundall tossed a 22-yard pass to Roy Grillo in the second quarter after the quarterback and scooted for a 14 and 18 yard run.

Westmont's great defensive team caused Saratoga to fumble three times during the game which proved a big factor in the contest.

Campbell varsity defeats Del Mar

Campbell's varsity football team, sparked by the running of Gary Paske and the pass-catching of Don Hahn, whipped the tough Del Mar Team by a score of 14-6.

Campbell's first score came on a 12 yard run by back Steve LoBue. The score culminated a long drive by Campbell, highlighted by runs by LoBue and Dale Daneman.

Campbell's second touchdown came on a 60-yard pass play to Don Hahn. Hahn snatched the ball from two Del Mar defenders, and scampered 30 yards for the score. Kent McLain kicked both extra points and the scoring ended.

Campbell's final game of the season, the annual Thanksgiving Day game, will be played tomorrow. The game will be held on the Los Gatos Field and will begin at 11:00. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $.75 for children. Outstanding half-time performance will be provided by the Campbell and Los Gatos bands.

Vikings lose

Halfback Jim Plake scored three times and paced a strong ground attack that gave Cabrillo a 50-22 victory over West Valley's Vikings Saturday night at Cabrillo.

The win gave the Seahawks a tie for second place in the Coast Conference with the Vikings. Both ended the campaign with 4-2 marks.

County Sanitation District explains construction program underway

Since July, County Sanitation District No. 4 has been busy burying trunk sewers in West Valley streets.

What is a trunk sewer?

Engineers say a trunk sewer is any sewer over eight inches in diameter. Some of the trunk sewers District No. 4 is putting into the ground are big enough to walk through. Those big concrete pipe sections you see on some streets are not storm drains, but sanitary sewers.

To date, some of the projects completed or under construction are the Winchester-Old Orchard trunk, San Tomas Expressway trunk, Los Gatos-Vasona Park trunk, a total of 6.4 miles of trunk sewers.

Some tricky construction work is involved in building the system. Contractors are now drilling a 200 foot long tunnel under the Junipero Serra Freeway at Cypress Ave. and sliding the pipe in. This pipe must be within a fraction of an inch on grade. At Vasona Park, the park authorities lowered the lake, so the pipe could be installed below the normal lake level.

These trunk sewers in part will relieve some of the overtaxed trunk sewers which are too small to take care of our expanding population. The trunks are big enough to serve the Year 2000 population.

The District is financing the trunks by the proceeds of a general obligation sale in June, 1965, in the amount of $3,900,000. District voters approved a $7,500,000 general obligation bond issue in March of this year by a 71% vote.

Approximately $3,500,000 of bond funds were used to purchase capacity rights in the San Jose-Santa Clara sewage treatment plant and interceptor sewers. The right of the District to use these facilities runs to June 30, 2000. In addition, the District shares the annual operating and maintenance costs of the facilities.

Other activities of the district include administering sewer extension reimbursement agreements. As of April, the district had 138 accounts, totalling approximately $500,000.

A total of 14.4 miles of main and trunk sewers were installed during the fiscal year 1964-65, bringing the district's total to 220 miles.

The district operates a sewer preventative maintenance program which allows the inspection and/or cleaning of the entire district sewer system at least once a year. Stoppages are held to a minimum. Cost of inspection and cleaning is about 5.5 cents a foot.

Grass Roots

If you live in a neighborhood where the streets are lined with leafy, shade-giving trees, you're lucky! If you don't, look around and see what can be done.

Too often individual homeowners are so busy landscaping the private areas of their property that they forget what a difference street planting can make. Too many houses are strung together by bald asphalt and cement, and no matter what improvements people may make within their gardens, the neighborhood as a whole suffers from a bare, uneven look.

In many California communities people are getting together on street planting. Sometimes it is a simple block project where neighbors agree on a certain type of tree, and each one buys his own and plants it in the parking strip in front of his house.

In other cases, civic and community groups decide to sponsor a planned tree planting program for residential and downtown areas, and work in communities to raise funds.

The choice of trees for street planting is wide. There are dozens of varieties, both deciduous and evergreen, that are clean, high-spreading and easily grown and maintained. However, the following are some that the California Association of Nurserymen especially recommends.

MAIDENHAIR TREE, variety "Autumn Gold". This is a striking tree for autumn color. No matter how mild your fall weather is, the leaves of the Maidenhair Tree turn a glorious gold in the fall and hang on for weeks to make a brilliant avenue of buttercup yellow. With their symmetrical, upright habit and picturesque branches, they add character to the winter landscape.

SWEET GUM, variety "Palo Alto". This is a stately, pyramidal tree of pleasing proportions with the same talent for autumn color as the Maidenhair Tree above. No matter what your climate, it will put on an exciting show of rich red leaves in the fall. Beautiful maple-shaped leaves, and naturally graceful branch spacing make it a fine street tree choice.

MAGNOLIA GRANDIFLORA, variety "Majestic Beauty". This new tree has been voted "outstanding" by nurserymen, and is already becoming a popular choice for shade and street planting.

Before making your final decision, you should consult a recommended list of trees available at your local utility district.

Holiday-theme for luncheon

"Let's Have an Old Fashioned Christmas" will be the theme of the luncheon meeting of Christian Women's Club on Thursday, Dec. 2. Holly berries, candles, a real live tree, make up the setting for the holiday theme.

During the luncheon, which will be held at Lou's Village, there will be an informal showing of holiday fashions and lounge wear. Louanna Shop in Hacienda Gardens shopping center has chosen just the right selection of the very prettiest in "at home" wear. Models will be members of the executive board of the club and include Mesdames Wilfred Heywood, George Kaplan, Theodore Levin, Gordon Milne, Orry Mobraten, Paul Montesano, Albert Rees, William Smith, James Staley and Bruce Stevenson.

Mrs. Jerome Blair, chairman, will introduce Lyle Richardson who will interweave a musical program with the devotional message. Mr. Richardson is a graduate of the Philadelphia Musical Academy and made his formal concert debut in 1958. He has a rich baritone voice and is a gifted pianist.

Nursery facilities are available and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Theodore Levin. Reservations must be made by Tuesday, Nov. 30.

West Valley board picks Santa Clara campus site

West Valley College Board of Trustees last week voted unanimously "to acquire sufficient acreage in the area bounded by Highway 101 (Bayshore Freeway), Coffin Rd. and Calabazas Creek, to provide for an adequate site for a junior college campus thereon."

The action came on the day following an overwhelming endorsement of the site by the junior college district's 28-member advisory committee. In a letter to the board Chairman W. J. Nicholson pointed out that the committee's recommendation also was supported by favorable action taken by both the Santa Clara City Council and the board of directors of the Santa Clara Chamber of Commerce.

The area under consideration, is known as H-8 among several proposed earlier this year by Mayor William Wilson Jr. of Santa Clara. It contains seven parcels totaling 180 acres. Administration officials have estimated that no more than 125 acres will be needed for the campus.

In their resolution designating the site the trustees said "such a decision is conditional upon the receipt of written assurances from the requisite Santa Clara City and Santa Clara County officials that an overpass over the Bayshore Freeway at Coffin Rd. would be constructed and ready for use" when classes open on the new campus.

The board also indicated, in accordance with the state's Education Code, that its decision is subject to review by the Santa Clara City and County Planning commissions, the Bureau of School Planning, State Department of Education, and the California Aeronautics Commissions.

The board also appointed Frank A. Wilcox, 1019 Coffin Road, Santa Clara, to membership on its West Valley College Advisory Committee. Wilcox is a well-known rancher in the Santa Clara area and a former member of the Jefferson Union School District governing board.

College group to present 3-act comedy

"Love and Kisses," a smash hit, three-act modern comedy by Anita Rowe Block, will be presented Dec. 2, 3 and 4 by the drama department at West Valley College, 51 E. Campbell Ave. The first night, billed as an "invitational dress rehearsal" is open only to West Valley students and faculty. The remaining performances are open to the general public for an admission price of $1.50.

As important as the performance of the all-student cast, according to drama instructor Charles Hoover, will be the resourcefulness and versatility shown by the 36-member production crew in design and construction of all scenery and relocation and redesign of its lighting control booth.

ACCEPTS CHECK - William Sapp, treasurer of the West Valley Historical Society, accepts a check for $125 from The Women's Service Club of Campbell. Mrs. Lawrence Quinsland, president of the service club, makes the contribution. The money will be used to purchase additional display cases for the Campbell Museum.

Museum benefits from Service Club donations

One of this city's most dedicated women's groups is the Women's Service Club, founded in the early "thirties" at the First Methodist Church of Campbell by Mrs. E. R. Kennedy.

Service is its reason for existence, and the group divides its contributions between the community and the Methodist Church. Just recently the organization raised $125 which they have donated to the West Valley Historical Society (Campbell Museum). The money will be used to purchase additional display stands.

Last year the group purchased a photocopy machine and a world globe which they donated to the Campbell Library. Now library patrons can photocopy any reference material they wish from the library.

Mrs. Lawrence Quinsland is president of the Women's Service Club. Other officers are Mrs. Jack Shirley, vice president; Mrs. Russell Briggs, secretary and Mrs. C. F. Helmbold, treasurer. The organization meets monthly at members' homes.

Trailer firm's zone variance concerns city

If the problem of a variance that allows trailers to be stored on a lot that extends into a proposed multiple-dwelling area can be resolved, chances look good that the zone change request (from R-1 to C-2-S) of Baker Trailer Sales, at 2101-2155 S. Bascom, will come about.

This was indicated Monday night at the City Council meeting when a hearing was held on an appeal of a Planning Commission ruling that denied the zone change. The council referred the matter back to the commission with the request that details on possible changing of the variance be worked out.

Former Mayor John M. Chargin, San Jose attorney, who represented James Baker of the trailer firm, told the council that the commission was unfair in its denial because property adjacent to the trailer sales firm had been approved for rezoning to commercial.

The zone change request by Baker was for the rear portion of the property that fronts on S. Bascom.

However, what bothers the city is that Baker is operating under a variance that allows the trailer firm to use all the rest of the property which includes the 165-ft. x 238-ft. that falls into the proposed high density area. This parcel, however, cannot be developed in that manner until an improvement district is formed and a street put in.

Baker contended that he would be willing to withdraw his variance on that parcel in five years or when the area in question was more than 50% covered by multiples.

The variance for the trailer firm was granted by the city after lengthy litigation over the use of a residence on the property, Baker has agreed to remove the residence within three years.

Councilmen agreed that rezoning the Baker property was logical as it would even off the zoning on S. Bascom. But they maintained that until the variance was lifted on that offending rear parcel, the city was obligated to leave the zoning as is.

New Councilman Homer Hyde abstained from taking part in the discussion or voting on the issue on the advice of City Attorney Joe Bonacina. Hyde had been on the Planning Commission when the zone change was denied unanimously.

City Hall briefs

Two issues before the City Council on Monday (Baker Trailer Sales zone change appeal and San Tomas shopping center..see other stories) took up most of the council's time.

It was 11:30 p.m. when the vote was taken on the San Tomas issue.

The council took the following other actions during the marathon session that lasted until 1:30 a.m.

--ADOPTED a resolution "expressing support and devotion to the members of the armed forces of this country fighting in Viet Nam." The resolution was similar to that adopted by San Mateo with the exception of one paragraph relating to illegal demonstrations.

The resolution provoked considerable discussion on the part of the councilmen. Several were reluctant to adopt it until it was modified. Councilman Ed Rogers, a medal-winning World War II veteran, however abstained in the voting.

During the discussion, Fred Chez, local developer, appealed to the council to go on record with the resolution.

--APPROVED an agreement with Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., for an independent audit of the city for $2800, a $300 increase over last year.

--WITHDREW the proposed ordinance that specified city commissioners must live within the city. It was agreed that this could be handled by council policy and thus allow a planning commissioner in exceptional cases to be appointed.

--ASKED for those wishing to be considered for appointment to the vacancy that now exists on the Planning Commission to apply to the city clerk. A screening committee, composed of Mayor Charles Rose, and Councilmen Ed Rogers and Bill Smeed will interview the candidates.

--AUTHORIZED the city staff to take steps to take over the various lighting districts within the city limits that previously were administered by the county.

--APPROVED the final map for the subdivision near Central Park as presented by Mrs. Connie Regas, local real estate agent.

--ADOPTED three zoning ordinances, including that requested by the Smith family, owners of San Tomas Village Shopping center, to allow the expansion of the center. The other ordinance spelled out loitering by juveniles as requested

Army gets pointers on climbing from Campbell man

A communications repair expert from the San Jose Headquarters of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. visited the 4th Brigade's Field Communications Crewman Course last week to exchange ideas and discuss instruction of pole climbing.

Don B. Harris, a resident of Campbell, has spent more than 18 years in the communications field. After observing training here he said, "Instruction given at Ft. Ord is basically the same as that given at the telephone schools." He continued, "The main problem in training pole climbers is to build confidence that their equipment will support them."

The visit of the communications expert was coordinated by George M. Dean, vice president and general manager of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph.

Harris brought four telephone company training films and conducted several demonstrations of techniques used at telephone schools to help build confidence in pole climbers.

One of the methods he used was to lift a trainee from the ground while supporting himself with a safety belt. Students in the 4th Brigade course also demonstrated one of their confidence building exercises, throwing a baseball from pole to pole while fastened by safety belts 30 feet above the ground.

In addition to the pole climbing, the 4th Brigade Field Communication school conducts training in basic driving, map reading, field wire techniques, telephone switchboard operation, message operation and tactical field wire construction.

Harris (right) explains the correct way of positioning the legs while fastened to a pole in order to move and work to Private George Kelly, Company A, 2nd Battalion, 4th Brigade. Harris, plant service foreman, Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., observed training conducted at Ft. Ord.

PRIVATELY DEVELOPED INTERRACIAL HOUSING, An Analysis of Experience
by Eunice and George Grier

This book reports the findings of one phase of a broad study of housing problems involving minority racial and ethnic groups, conducted by the Commission on Race and Housing under the direction of Davis McEntire.

Where the members of minority racial groups should live--whether in segregated communities or dispersed through the general housing supply, is a social problem of large and growing importance to American cities. To inquire into this problem was the purpose of this Commission. While the author's findings will be of especial interest to brokers, builders and bankers, they are presented in non-technical language and provide engrossing reading for anyone wishing to learn more about a relatively new approach to racial desegregation.

THE ROMANCE OF SEALS AND ENGRAVED GEMS by Beth Benton Sutherland

An introduction to the art of cameo and intaglio engraving, and a definitive survey of this ancient craft. After thoroughly acquainting the reader with what is involved in engraving a gem, Mrs. Sutherland tells the romantic story of intaglio and cameo stones and of the glyptic art, which reaches back into the very earliest days of civilization.

This is the story of a craft that developed with the growth of commerce, banking, government and other institutions of man.

BLACKFORD BEAT

BY DIANE GIPSON CAROL COOK

At Blackford last week, "spirit" was again the by-word for all Braves. The cheerleaders have commented that this is Blackford's best year for spirit, and that the district spirit trophy has a good chance of reading "Blackford '65" this year.

The varsity game played Friday at Blackford was won by the Leigh Longhorns by a score of 14-7. The spirit, however, was again won by Blackford!

The frosh/soph game scheduled for Thursday of last week was cancelled because of rain, and was played Friday instead, at Leigh. The Brave team came through for their school with a 7-0 victory over the Longhorns. This was the end of the season for the frosh/soph team.

Last week on Wednesday evening, hundreds of parents turned out despite rain and wind for Blackford's "back to school night".

Also last week, on Wednesday and Thursday, representatives from Washington University and Claremont visited our campus to take sign-ups from seniors.

On Nov. 24, the annual Armed Forces assembly will be held for senior boys. On Nov. 30, a representative from Whitworth in Spokane will be at Blackford to take sign-ups. All seniors should be aware of these dates!

Jan Stockard, a junior, has been chosen to represent Blackford in the American Field Service program. If Janis successful in the competition she will spend either a summer or winter in a foreign country. Semi-finalists were Lynn Shertzer, Bob Grant and Melian Carmichael, all juniors.

Along with having students from Sweden and Chili, Blackford also has a student from Tahiti this year. A freshman at Blackford this year, Tiare McMillan, moved to the United States in August, and is already active in school functions.

Another Brave in the news is Senior Marianne Pence, our head majorette. Recently Marianne was awarded the "Miss Halftime U.S.A." title by the bay area press. She is the first person to be awarded this title. Not only does she twirl a baton, but since her sophomore year Marianne has been twirling her clarinet!

In addition to her performances at the Blackford games, Marianne performs at many college games. And of course she will be present at our Thanksgiving game.

This is officially spirit week at Blackford, and the biggest game of the year will be Thursday on Blackford's field. All Braves are expected to be in attendance. So, be at the game, wear white, and above all, have a wonderful holiday!

BUC BANTER

BY MARY KNOWLES

The Back Country 7 made its farewell appearance last week at an assembly. The group, consisting of Larry Norman, Nancy Norman, Gene Mason, Mark Ebner, Sharon Walker, Mike Aguilar, and Howard Duckett, broke up shortly after their County Fair appearance, but came back together for this last appearance.

Gene Mason has decided to go on professionally and will be singing with a group that will be using much of the original material that was written by the group's head, Larry Norman.

The A Cappella Choir has a busy month ahead. Next week, they will perform several numbers in an all-school assembly. In December they will perform at the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. Then in rapid succession come a performance at the San Jose Civic Auditorium on Dec. 10, Campbell Grange on Dec. 14, school caroling Dec. 16, and the school Christmas program on Dec. 17. They are also hard at work on numbers to perform at the German Program on Dec. 2..

This Friday the Campbell High School Buc Marching Band will perform in the annual Balloon Parade in San Jose. If you haven't seen the banner-carriers, Wanda Kinzie and Gerri Phillips, in their sharp new uniforms, don't miss the parade.

Today was election day at Campbell. Running for student council in this preliminary election were: Paul Rosenberg, Terry Brink, Monty Hart, Leger Grindon, Mark Ebner, Mary Gaddis, Betty Fuller, Linda Fouts, Jim Chamberlin, Walt Ritter, Greg Lin, Rich Phillips, and Al Shimizu. Those in running for student body president were: Rich Salciccia, Wes Clark, and Lindsay Johnston. Also elected today was the Campbell High School Football Queen. The girls nominated for this honor were: Connie Schnieder, Carol Peterson, Cheryl Robertson, Christian Sandstrom, and Mary Jane Bornes. Election results were not available at the time of this writing, but will be in next week's column.

An all-school rally was held today to arouse spirit for tomorrow's bloody battle at Los Gatos. With the great spirit shown at the Veteran's Day game, the spirit doesn't really seem to need arousing. The rally held the night before the Veteran's Day Game, the first night rally at Campbell, was really good and has paved the way for future events of this nature at night.

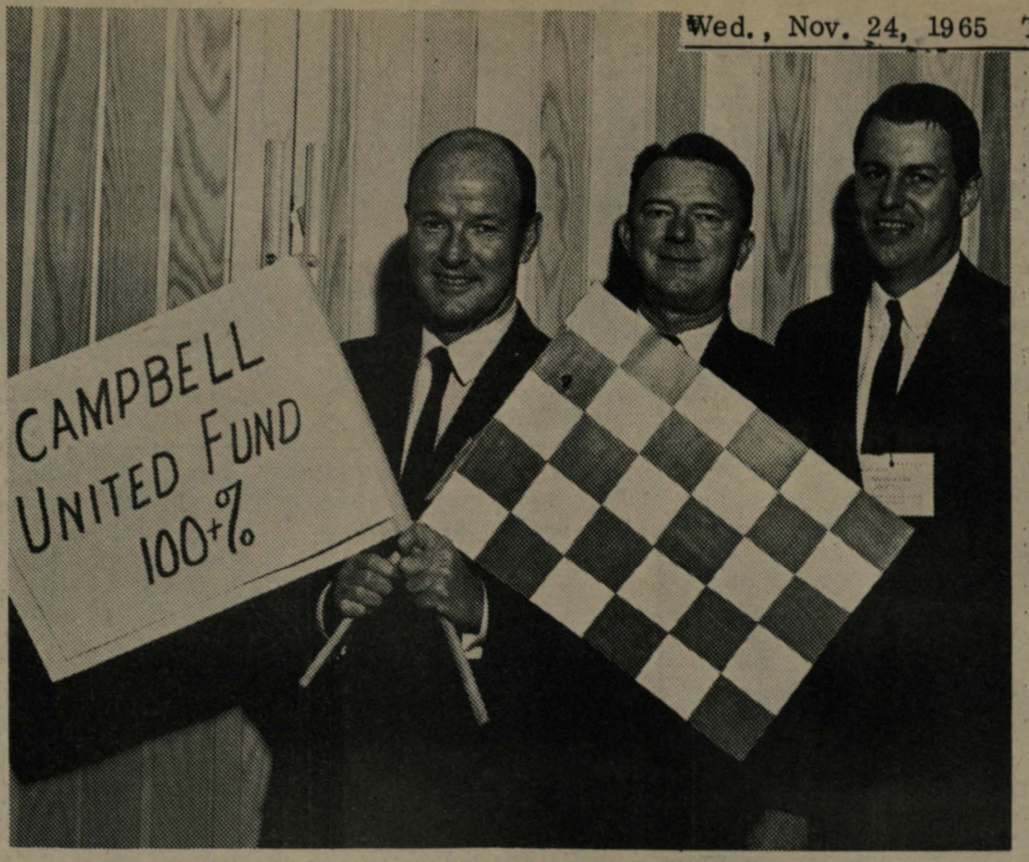
PLAYER
OF THE WEEK
DALE DANEMAN

"I really didn't think I deserved it," stated Dale Daneman. "I was chosen player of the week during a week when the whole team did real well, so I think the entire team deserves the credit."

Among Dale's likes are short girls, "They've got to be short with long, dark hair," while his pet peeve is, "Football players who play dirty."

Because football takes up most of his time, Dale doesn't participate in many other school activities except Block C and track, "to keep in shape".

Campbell raises $34,319 for United Fund



CAMPBELL GOES 100% - Campbell United Fund campaign gets the "checkered flag" from County UF President John F. Lawler (left) with the approval of Ledger A. Myers (center) Campbell campaign chairman, and Bart R. van Eck, Central Area UF Chapter president. The local campaign "drove" across the "finish line" to conclude this year's appeal with more than 100% of goal.

Campbell United Fund has attained victory by raising more than 100% of the $34,222 community goal. Ledger A. Myers, Campbell campaign chairman and IBM administrative assistant, reports $34,319 was accounted for at the county-wide UF victory luncheon Nov. 16.

A county-wide victory has also been attained, with 105% o' mark reported at the meeting, where it was learned that $2,145,-647 was raised, which is almost $100,000 beyond goal. This is the largest amount ever raised by United Fund in the county and is also the greatest percentage beyond quota, according to county UF President John F. Lawler.

Bart R. van Eck, president of the Central Area Chapter, which includes Campbell and ten other cities in the San José area, commended Myers for his volunteer leadership.

According to Myers, the appeal in Campbell was divided into several sections

WARRIOR WAYS

BY LYNDA WYCKOFF

At Westmont last week students crowded into the halls to avoid being soaked by the heavy rains that fell all during the past week. The rains however did not dampen Westmonts spirit concerning the big championship game against Saratoga High.

Weeks of hard work put forth by the speech and debate team and the coach, Mike Slavit, were rewarded last Saturday, Nov. 20 at Westmont's first tournament.

WARRIOR
OF THE WEEK
NANCY PARLE

Nancy Parle, a senior at Westmont this year, has just returned from the Governor's Conference at the Governor's mansion in Sacramento, Calif.

Nancy attended the opening exercises and listened to California Governor Edmund (Pat) Brown speak to the audience about the problem of communication between the adult world and that of the teenager.

Friday and Saturday were spent in discussion groups. Nancy's topic was "Family Life." Other topics included were "Alcoholism", "Community Life", and "What Part Does the School Have in Sex Education."

Nancy's hobbies include the theater. She directs and teaches a school of creative dramatics in Saratoga. Nancy also loves to sing and is an active member of the A' Cappella Choir.

Nancy has applied to Stanford, U.C. at Santa Barbara, and to San Francisco State. She hopes to teach high school literature or drama.

"Tea House of the August Moon," the senior play was held on Nov. 18, 19, 20. The opening night was a smashing success.

The first assembly of the year was held Nov. 16. The assembly was opened by the introduction of Del Mar's four foreign exchange students: Lala Aka from Turkey and Lars Anderson from Sweden, both American Field Service representatives; Gabrille Heilberg and Maren Sanderhoff are from Germany, representataves many, representatives of the Youth for Understanding Program.

Then George Miskulin, principal, presented the Student of the Month award to Mary David. Unlike other schools Del Mar does not always hand out an award each month. Mr. Miskulin feels it's up to the students to nominate another student for the award. Anyone wishing to nominate a person is advised to write a short composition on why you feel this student should receive this award, then present it to Mr. Miskulin.

On Wednesday, Nov. 24, the first Homecoming dance will be held, "Reflections in Blue". All past and present students of Del Mar are welcome to come. Admission is 50 cents per person.

On Dec. 11, the Del Mar Key Club will present "The Performers".
